The EUAA Information and Documentation System (IDS) is a database that contains current and comprehensive information on the implementation of the Common European Asylum System (CEAS).

The online platform presents the latest data and information on legislation, policies, practices and jurisprudence related to asylum and reception systems in 30 EU+ countries. The harmonised, comparable information serves to inform evidence-based policymaking and improve national practices.

Access

The IDS platform is restricted to registered users from national asylum administrations. Currently representatives from 30 EU+ countries form part of the IDS network and have access to the database.

Methodology

The EUAA collects information from national administrations and supplementary sources, including international organisations, civil society organisations, research institutes and academia. The information is analysed and included in relevant thematic sections for each country.

Updates are reviewed and validated by EU+ countries through the IDS Advisory Group Network, which comprises nominated national focal points. The Advisory Group also provides strategic guidance on the development of the database and approves the creation and deactivation of user accounts.

Thematic scope of a country profile

The information is organised by thematic groups related to CEAS for each country and at the EU level overall. A summary of each recent development is available in English on the main country page, with related information and sources in the original language.

New feature: Comparative overviews

Each stage of the asylum process is described by country and at the EU level, enabling users to compare practices across the region. Users can generate a comparison of practices with report tables and thematic overviews under each thematic section at the EU level.

On the left, a sidebar lists various stages of the asylum process, including 'Access to procedures', 'Dublin procedures', 'First instance determination', 'Types of procedures', 'Personal interview', 'Assessment of application', 'Safe country concept', 'Second instance determination', 'Legal assistance and representation', 'Detention', 'Forms of protection', 'Return', and 'Resettlement and humanization'. The main content area shows a 'Comparative overview of competent authorities' table, which is organized into columns for different stages of the process: 'Admissibility', 'Accelerated procedure', 'Border procedure', and 'Subsequent applications'. Each column lists the competent authorities for various countries, such as Austria, Belgium, Bulgaria, Czechia, Denmark, Estonia, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, Hungary, Ireland, Italy, Latvia, Lithuania, Luxembourg, Malta, Netherlands, Poland, Portugal, Romania, Slovakia, Slovenia, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, and the United Kingdom. The table also includes a 'Compare practices' button and an 'Export table' button.
